

You've got to be on the SQUARE if you are going to build . . . and that's true whether it is a house or a business. Folks who think their customers are suckers don't last long. We know that is true . . . and that is just one of the many reasons why our policy has always been ON THE SQUARE!

Mortuary Seeks Relatives Of Dead Man

Stone and Myers Mortuary was still awaiting completion of funeral arrangements at press time for Walter Roehy, 80, who died in Harbor General Hospital February 1. The mortuary so far has only been able to determine that Roehy, who lived at 17 Chestnut street, Long Beach, has a daughter living in Livingston, Montana.

Screw In Lung Kills Torrance 4-Year-Old

A 1/4-inch screw that lodged in her lungs was blamed in the death of 4-year-old Annie Beatrice Stegmaier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stegmaier Saturday. The screw was found by X-ray at Harbor General Hospital where the child was rushed from her home at 22944 Cabrillo avenue after she began spitting blood last Wednesday at 6 p.m. She died at 11:20 p.m. despite life-saving efforts at the hospital.

Reflections

By J. Hugh Sherfy, Jr.

Be Great And Be Strange

Lincoln's Gettysburg address was inspired. Edison's electric lamp was an inspiration. Mark Twain's Huckleberry Finn was a day dream put on paper. The sermon you heard last Sunday was a thought; hard work built it into an inspired message. Greatness is solidified dreams, plus hard work.

Men who do great things are called "strange"; their minds are delving into the realm of great things. Time means nothing to them, often working around the clock to bring to fruition the things they start. The man who works two hours and thinks about himself for the twenty-two will never do more than that. To get above the masses think above the masses, then work to bring your inspired thoughts into reality.

Inspiration dives to heights of fame and happiness; sloth is living in a grotto on the road of forgotten men.

LIONS HEAR BLIND CAMP FOUNDER

Miss Rose Resnick, founder of Recreation for the Blind and Enchanted Hills Camp for Blind Children, was the guest speaker at the Lions Club regular noon meeting on Tuesday.

Miss Resnick, a graduate of the University of California, has been blind since she was two years old. The club gave the child camp founder a check to help defray the cost of sending a blind child to the summer camp, according to Dr. Don C. Moshos, club president. The camp is located on a 350 acre site north of San Francisco and is maintained by public subscription.

Child Care Centers Periled

Superintendent of Schools Dr. J. Henrich Hill told members of the Board of Education at their meeting Tuesday night that there is a move abroad in California to transmute the financing of child care centers from general funds to support by the school districts.

Board members expressed their objection to the possibility and said they would help fight such a move as placing too great a burden on already overtaxed school systems.

Hill said there are approximately 80 youngsters in Torrance getting such care.

OFFICIAL DISPATCH

Thus in the style of the headlines of the day did the "The New York Herald" announce the story of the assassination of President Lincoln whose birthday anniversary will be observed Monday.

The story of the fatal shooting is described in a copy of the New York paper now in the possession of Charles A. Curtiss, Torrance City Chief Accountant. The 85-year old paper carries the dateline of Saturday April 15, 1865—the day after Lincoln was shot.

Between inverted column rules, black and wide in memory of the president, the shooting was described in an official dispatch from Edwin M. Stanton, then Secretary of War.

"This evening at about 9:30 p.m., at Ford's Theatre, the President, while sitting in his private box with Mrs. Lincoln, Mrs. Harris and Major Rathburn, was shot by an assassin, who suddenly entered the box and approached behind the President.

"The assassin then leaped upon the stage, brandishing a large dagger or knife, and made his escape in the rear of the theatre.

"This pistol ball entered the back of the President's head and penetrated nearly through the head. The wound is mortal."

At the bottom of the page in column four appeared the brief announcement:

"Abraham Lincoln died this morning at twenty-two minutes past 7 o'clock."
It was signed by Stanton. In other columns of the four-page paper the assassination Secretary Clarence Seward, who was attacked the same night, was described in a simple statement:

"Secretary Seward was also assassinated. No arteries were cut."

The 141st anniversary of Lincoln's birthday falls this year on Sunday, February 12. Banks and city offices will be closed on Monday, February 13.

EDITOR'S NOTE: During the last decades of the 19th century, enterprising promoters made wide use of reproductions of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, as a means of focussing attention upon their schemes or products. Many of these reproductions have been preserved, and after so many years are looked upon as authentic copies of the New York paper with its complete story of the assassination of President Lincoln. It is possible, but highly improbable, that true copies of the New York Herald now exist outside of collections of historical documents in the Congressional Library or the Smithsonian Institute. Careful reading of the inside pages of the reproduction will tell the story of its origin.
